Seek 4 Young Men In Wisconsin Blast

WASHINGTON (AP) — A nationwide search has been launched for four young men charged in the bombing of the Army Mathematics Research Center at Madison, Wis. One man died and three were injured in the blast.

One of the four charged in the Aug. 24 bombing was linked by the FBI to Students for a Democratic Society. Three had attended the University of Wisconsin where the research center was located. The fourth was identified as a high school dropout.

The FBI said fugitive warrants and charges of sabotage, destruction of government property and conspiracy have been filed against Karleton Lewis Armstrong, 22; his brother, Dwight Alan Armstrong, 19; David Sylvan Fine, 18, and Leo Frederick Burt, 22.

An FBI agent investigating the blast filed an affidavit Wednesday in Madison, saying the Armstrong brothers told a friend they had a large cache of explosives and planned a series of bombings.

In the affidavit, agent George P. Baxtrum Jr. said the Armstrongs told the friend they were responsible for the Jan. 1 bombing of the Badger Army Ammunitions Plant. Authorities said an undetonated bomb was found on the grounds of the ammo plant.

Karleton Armstrong rented a trailer and bought 100 gallons of gasoline Aug. 16, the agent quoted a Madison service station employee as saying. According to the document, another man reported the elder brother purchased 1,700 pounds of nitrogen fertilizer three days later.

The fertilizer and gasoline could be combined to make an explosive device.

Baxtrum said the four men charged were stopped by police shortly after the research center was bombed, but were allowed to pass. A friend of the four received a letter postmarked Aug. 28 in which they said they were in New York City en route to Canada.

The FBI said the university's Sterling Hall, in which the government research center was located, "for several years has been the target for demonstration activity by radical groups led by the Students for a Democratic Society which protested it as a link of the University of Wisconsin with the federal government."

Nixon, Mexican Chief To Meet In California

CORONADO, Calif. (AP) — A big parade, pickets and a crowd of officials predict will reach 100,000 are expected to greet President Nixon and Mexican President Gustavo Diaz Ordaz in this seaside city today.

The two presidents and 700 VIP guests including former President Lyndon B. Johnson were gathering for a White House-style state dinner. Nixon is giving Diaz Ordaz tonight in a display of Mexican-American friendship.

Decorations, bleachers and welcoming signs were up and 65 marching units were poised for the parade, along with beauty queens and horse riders.

City officials have been working hard to make this a warm welcome with a big turnout and all the ceremonial trappings to celebrate California's bicentennial as well as the visit of the presidents.

Hundreds of free buses were put into service all over the county and down to the border town of Tijuana to bring visitors to this community of 16,000.

The normal 60-cent toll on the new $47 million Coronado Bay Bridge was cut to 10 cents or one peso for the day. Mexican currency was being accepted for the first time on the span that links San Diego and the Coronado Peninsula.

Nixon's bubbletop limousine was brought in for his 1½-mile motorcade, timed to follow the parade after noontime arrival ceremonies at North Island Naval Air Station.

Nixon planned to helicopter from the Western White House at San Clemente some 60 miles away after a morning meeting with the six members of the Senate Finance Committee.

He is seeking the committee's aid in moving his stalled family assistance welfare plan to a Senate vote and invited them to come out for the dinner at the 82-year-old, Victorian-style, 400-room Hotel del Coronado here.

No Wrongdoing Is Found By Solons Against War

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Justice Department has told Sen. Barry Goldwater it found no wrongdoing on the part of antiwar senators who raised nearly $500,000 to rally public support for legislation designed to end U.S. participation in the Indochina war.

In a letter to the Arizona Republican, Deputy Atty. Gen. Richard G. Kleindienst said the department was "unable to make a determination" that federal laws were violated in raising and spending the money.

Goldwater, who asked for a legal opinion on the propriety of fund-raising activities of the Committee To End The War, was not immediately available for comment.

Kleindienst, who was Goldwater's 1964 presidential campaign manager, said the department's investigation had turned up no evidence of wrongdoing "based on the facts that are available at this time."

A Justice Department spokesman read excerpts of the letter to a reporter but refused to release the full text. He said Kleindienst's statement did not necessarily mean the investigation was closed.

The Committee To End the War, a coalition of dovish senators and others in the antiwar movement, sponsored a televised appeal last May for money to push the so-called McGovern-Hatfield "amendment to end the war." The committee's advertising urged citizens to voice their support for the amendment by writing to their senators and congressmen.

The amendment requiring withdrawal of all U.S. troops from Vietnam by the end of 1971 was defeated Tuesday in the Senate.

Senator George S. McGovern, D-S.D., who along with Senator Mark Hatfield, R-Ore., was the amendment's principal sponsor, placed a statement in the Aug. 11 issue of the Congressional Record showing that the appeal had raised $492,000. By that date, McGovern said, the committee had spent $280,000 on television, radio and newspaper advertising.

Goldwater had asked the department to determine whether the committee had violated either conflict of interest laws or tax laws. The hawkish senator also sought an opinion on whether the committee should register as a lobbying group.

Washington Hits Truce Violations

U.S. Prepares Statement On Suez Buildup

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States reportedly today told the Soviet Union and Egypt to quit violating the Mideast standstill cease-fire agreement.

At the same time, U.S. officials were preparing a statement which would publicly acknowledge evidence of an anti-aircraft missile buildup on the Egyptian side of the Suez truce Zone, contrary to the cease-fire terms.

The U.S. aim is to prevent the cease-fire from breaking down and to promote the lagging Arab-Israeli peace talks.

Instructions to make representations to the Soviets and the Egyptians against truce violations were said to have been sent from Washington Wednesday night to Ambassador Jacob Beam in Moscow and to Minister Donald Bergus in Cairo.

Assistant Secretary of State Joseph Sisco also met here late last night with Israeli Ambassador Yithak Rabin.

The Israelis, charging the Egyptians with cheating on the ceasefire deal, have kept their envoy to the U.S.-supervised peace talks home for a week while weighing what to do.

Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird gave U.S. reassurance at a news conference Wednesday that the United States will not allow the Mideast military balance to swing against Israel.

Laird also said U.S. arms shipments to Israel are continuing, and he indicated American willingness to supply Israel with replacements for F4 Phantoms that might be lost in future combat. A delivery of 50 Phantoms to Israel is just being completed.

The Israelis also were said to be pressing for a public U.S. statement admitting that intelligence has detected a buildup in Soviet-supplied missiles in the Egyptian truce zone.

The United States, as sponsor and watchdog of the peace plan, has been taking pictures from high-flying U2 planes. In an Aug. 19 statement, it said the evidence did not conclusively back Israel's initial allegations of Egyptian violations in the hours just after the truce began Aug. 8.

A Washington statement acknowledging the new findings, in the Israeli view, would bolster faith in the policing of the ceasefire.

White House and State Department spokesmen kept mum Wednesday about the new evidence, which was said to have been reviewed by President Nixon and his top advisors Tuesday at San Clemente, Calif.

Premier Golda Meir and her Cabinet met again today to consider the question as Israel issued its ninth complaint charging more Egyptian movement of (Please Turn To Page 2)

Swimming Pool Expansion Eyed

A new swimming pool that would be more than 2½ times larger than the membership facility which it would incorporate is being considered by the Washington Park Board.

If the preliminary sketches and construction plans are approved, bids received and contracts awarded within the next few weeks, it is possible that construction will begin this fall, with the new facility open about two weeks after the beginning of the swimming season next summer.

Gale Leatherwood, of Leatherwood Construction Co., Ashville, is preparing the preliminary sketches for the pool.

He estimates that the sketches will be finished within a week. If the preliminary sketches are approved, the construction plans will be drawn.

Financing arrangements have not yet been disclosed.

TIME is the critical factor involved in the plans for the new pool.

If the pool is planned and approved with contracts awarded within the next few weeks, construction can begin yet this year. If the final decisions and paper work require more than about three weeks, construction will have to be postponed until late next fall.

Due to flooding in the area of the current Washington Park pool, it would be inadvisable to begin construction in the spring, according to Leatherwood.

The proposed pool would be "Olympic" size, 165-feet long by 60-feet wide, and would range from three to five feet in depth.

It would be constructed behind the current parking area, near the present picnic shelter in the park, according to the preliminary plans.

The existing pool would be incorporated into the design of the overall recreation project.

THE PRESENT pool would be divided in half, with the shallow section for use by adults only. The sunbathing area near that section of the pool would be screened off with wood fences, and also would be restricted to use by adults only.

The diving area would be open to all patrons of the pool.

The Washington Park Board of the Rotary Club, which owns the present swimming pool, has been considering proposals for enlarging the existing facility all summer.

The board earlier considered and then rejected a proposal to lease the existing pool and land to another party for the purpose of constructing and operating a pool.

The Washington C. H. Area Chamber of Commerce has been working with the park board in making arrangements for the pool expansion.

Bruce, Thuy Meet In Paris

Red Delegate 'Ready To Listen'

PARIS (AP) — America's new chief delegate to the Vietnam peace talks finally met North Vietnam's chief representative at the conference table today as Hanoi's Xuan Thuy ended a nine-month boycott.

Thuy told newsmen as he entered the 82nd weekly session he was "ready to listen" to U.S. Ambassador David K. E. Bruce and "prepared to discern if there is anything new."

But Xuan Thuy declared the only way the talks can progress is for the United States to renounce "its policy of prolonging and widening its war of aggression" and abandon what he called its neocolonialist aims in South Vietnam.

Thuy, in his first appearance since December, asserted that North Vietnam remains firmly behind the Viet Cong's peace proposals which include a unilateral withdrawal by the United States from Vietnam and to abandon the South Vietnamese government of President Nguyen Van Thieu. The United States has rejected these proposals.

Bruce said in his statement at the meeting that the single essential condition for a negotiated peace is for South Vietnam to determine its own future without outside interference.

"Our respective views—yours and ours—have differed widely on how to achieve this one essential condition," Bruce said.

Then the new American envoy stated, "Let us avoid propaganda and harsh language. Let us set aside preconditions to serious discussions. Let us set aside demand for one-sided action."

Thuy said before the meeting — the 82nd — he had come to listen ready to discern if there is anything new in what Bruce had to say.

If there was anything new in Bruce's statement it was the tone. The American proposals have not changed.

The ambassador's appeal for using "all the means available to us" appeared as a bid for secret talks with Thuy.

Private, top-level meetings on the sidelines — interrupted for more than a year — are viewed as the best means of conducting genuine negotiations.

Appeal Decision On Penn Central Tax Value Cut

LISBON, Ohio (AP) — Columbiana County Auditor Kenneth L. Bell has appealed a decision handed down by the Ohio Board of Tax Appeals which reduced the tax value of property of the Penn Central railroad.

Bell said Wednesday that if the ruling is allowed to stand, the county could owe the railroad more than the utility owes in taxes.

Penn Central's property valuation was reduced from $113,752,000 to $78,196,613. The ruling is retroactive to the 1966 tax year and affects 56 counties, including Columbiana.

"Our county is one of the hardest hit," Bell said. The ruling would call for the county to pay Penn Central about 25 percent of the taxes paid, or nearly $92,500 for each of the three and one-half years of taxes.

Ohio To Sue For Recovery Of Loans If Facts Warrant

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Atty. Gen. Paul W. Brown told the Franklin County grand jury Wednesday he would sue to recover $12 million in loans made by the state treasurer's office "if the facts and the law indicate this should be done."

Brown said his office is "in constant communications with certain federal agencies whose investigation parallels your own."

He said information from these agencies would be used before he decided what action would be taken.

The special grand jury investigating state investment practices called on Brown and Treasurer John D. Herbert to recover the controversial loans of $4 million to Four Seasons Nursing Centers of America, Inc. and $8 million to King Resources, Inc. Auditor Roger Cloud has contended the loans were illegal.

Four Seasons currently is in reorganizational bankruptcy. King Resources is financially troubled, but said Wednesday it believes it can overcome its problems and resume profitable operations.

The company said it lost more than $15.3 million in the first half of 1970 and has initiated a $7 million a year cost reduction plan. It also has borrowed $3 million in a bank to make a 20 per cent payment on all accounts processed by July 28.

The company said it would continue to pay on the principal and interest of outstanding debts in regular intervals over the next two years.

Ohio's loans to King Resources include one for $3 million, due April 17, 1972, and another for $5 million, due April 27 of the same year. A $2 million loan to Four Seasons was due July 7 and two $1 million loans are due March 9, 1972, and March 23, 1972.

The loans to King Resources were among five loans totaling $28.9 million the state has asked be paid back immediately either because they put the state over the $50 million investment limit allowed by law or because they exceeded the 270-day limit on prime paper loans.

Brown said there still is question about whether the loans were, in fact, illegal.

63 GIs Killed In Vietnam This Week

SAIGON (AP) — Sixty-three Americans were killed in action last week in Vietnam, the U.S. Command announced, but its total did not include 28 others killed when a helicopter was shot down last Wednesday.

The 63 dead were 11 more than the American battle death toll the week before. The command said American battlefield deaths for the past nine weeks total 623, the lowest for a nine-week period in 4½ years—since 621 U.S. troops were reported killed between Dec. 19, 1965, and Feb. 19, 1966.

Last week's toll included only three of the 31 Americans killed in the helicopter crash south of Da Nang because only three of the bodies had been identified by midnight last Saturday. Twelve more bodies have been identified this week and will be included in this week's toll, to be announced next Thursday, and the other 16 will be added to the total of the week in which they are identified.

The casualty summary also said 585 U.S. troops were wounded in action last week, a considerable increase over the 358 wounded two weeks ago. South Vietnamese headquarters reported 264 of its troops were killed last week, up slightly from 247 the week before, and 537 were wounded. The U.S. Command said allied forces killed 1,284 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong troops, compared to 1,093 the week before.

Little fighting was reported today in Vietnam or Cambodia, but American B52 bombers flew a sixth day of saturation raids against North Vietnamese supply routes from Laos into Cambodia and South Vietnam.

From Phnom Penh, Associated Press correspondent John T. Wheeler reported that Cambodian troops launched a fresh counterattack to recapture the district headquarters at Srang and found that the North Vietnamese force which captured it five days ago had folded up its elaborate defenses and withdrawn.

Three battalions of Cambodians assaulted the town, firing as they moved in, but ran into only light opposition. Reports from the battleground 30 miles southwest of Phnom Penh indicated total government casualties in the five days of fighting were about 25 to 30 killed and

NASA Faces Readjustment As Moon Trips Are Slashed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The decision to eliminate two Apollo moon missions confronted the National Aeronautics and Space Administration today with a series of readjustments today. Four lunar flights remain.

First, NASA will mothball a couple of giant Saturn 5 moon rockets.

These launch vehicles, costing $185 million each, will become a part of "a national resource of heavy lift rocket capability," NASA administrator Thomas O. Paine told a news conference Wednesday.

Secondly, some mighty disappointed astronauts—including six who would have taken a moon flight on the Apollo 15 and 19 missions, now cancelled for budgetary reason—will have to be reassigned.

"The astronauts have been very unhappy, along with the scientific community, about the reductions in flights over the past several years," said Dale Myers, associate administrator for manned space flight. "Many of these men have dedicated themselves to development of the space shuttle."

There are 49 on the astronaut rolls. The U.S. has launched 26 of its astronauts on space trips, some two or three times, and one, James Lovell, four times.

Astronauts David R. Scott, Alfred M. Worden, Jr., and James B. Irwin had been assigned to Apollo 15, the mission now cancelled.

NASA also must now revise its list of moon landing sites.

"We still need to get to the lunar highlands, the hill areas, and we still must get a wide variety geologically to make sure of our passive seismic network," said Dr. John W. Findlay, chairman of the Lunar and Planetary Mission Board.

Instead of the Apollo 15 spacecraft with its limited lunar stay and lunar orbit capability, an advanced version including a lunar rover vehicle will be used, and thus another Apollo 15 site must be selected, Findlay said.

Paine said NASA intends to do everything possible to include a scientist astronaut on at least one mission.

Myers said there are no plans to reduce the size of the astronaut team.

He said NASA is running some "master facilities" studies to determine suitable locations for space shuttle work.

The space shuttle will be a vehicle that takes off rocket-like but returns to earth like an airplane. A part of the shuttle will separate from the launching craft, in orbit, to carry astronaut crews to and from the three-man orbiting Skylab.

The Apollo outback will have a special effect on Cape Kennedy, Fla. NASA said manpower at Kennedy Space Center will drop from the 15,500 level in 1973 when the Skylab program is due to end.

Myers said the agency will attempt to use Kennedy personnel to develop and support future programs.

After Skylab, no more manned flights are scheduled from the Cape. The earliest possible launch date for the space shuttle is 1976.

Jarring before the United States gives public support to Israel's charges.

"The defense minister is not making it easy for Golda," wrote columnist Yoel Marcus in the newspaper Haaretz. "He has given to understand that this is for him a matter of principle, and that if his stand is not accepted he can no longer bear responsibility for defense policy."

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Two men were to appear in Cleveland Municipal Court today on charges of aggravated assault in the baseball bat beating of controversial black community leader Baxter Hill.

Say Prisoner Led Treasury Men To Bills

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — An unidentified federal prisoner was responsible for leading the U.S. Secret Service to about $400,000 in counterfeit currency printed in Cleveland, according to Wilmer K. Deckard, agent in charge here.

The bogus money was believed by the Secret Service to be the remainder of a $1 million printing in 1964. Deckard said some $250,000 to $300,000 of the notes had been seized in different parts of the country before being placed in circulation.

The counterfeit money was recovered Wednesday and included thin zinc printing plates etched by a photographic process, Deckard said. Another shipment of phony money was found at Cleveland Hopkins International Airport in August.

He said $200,000 of phony $100 bills were placed in a public baggage locker in the Union Terminal by an unknown person Wednesday.

Miss Atkins, 21, is one of three young women followers on trial with Charles M. Manson, 35, chieftain of a nomadic hippie-style "family," on charges of murder-conspiracy in the slayings of Miss Tate and six others. Court was recessed Monday.

Storms Hit Midwest, Southeast

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Thunderstorms dumped heavy rain into the Midwest and parts of the Southeast today as cooler weather dipped into the Midcontinent.

Nearly 5 inches swamped the northwestern Iowa area around Spencer, according to an unofficial observer there. More than 2½ inches soaked Sioux City, Mo., and Athens, Ga.

The storms that broke out in hot and humid air over the nation's midsections late Wednesday occasionally packed high winds. Gusts near 50 miles an hour walloped Wichita, Kan.

A tornado touched down briefly outside the western Missouri town of Holden late Wednesday and caused minor damage to a home. No injuries were reported.

Showers also dampened sections of the northern Rockies and ranged westward into the Pacific Northwest.

Late-summer chilliness lingered over interior areas of the Northeast where temperatures once again dropped into the 30s overnight.

Suharto Visits Netherlands; 48 Hours Late

THE HAGUE (AP) — President Suharto of Indonesia arrived today for a state visit postponed 48 hours because of the rebel takeover Monday of his country's embassy in The Hague. It is the first visit by an Indonesian president to the Netherlands.

Suharto landed at a nearby military airport and was taken to the Huis Ten Bosch palace amid security measures of unprecedented peacetime strength. More than 4,000 policemen, troops and security forces were concentrated in the capital.

Queen Juliana, Prince Bernhard, government officials and Indonesian Ambassador Almaria Natadigrat met the plane. Suharto and the queen inspected the honor guard, then left for the palace.

A Dutch policeman was killed in the storming of the embassy Monday by about 25 exiles from the island of Ambon, in the East Indonesian Moluccas group. The rebels, who want independence for the Moluccas, hoisted their flag over the embassy and threatened to kill their hostages unless Suharto agreed to see their "president," J. A. Manu-sama.

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — A Mercury Capri powered by lead-free gasoline was the most efficient in controlling pollution during the 3,600-mile 1970 Clean Air Car Race from Cambridge, Mass., to Pasadena, the judges say.

Results were announced Wednesday night at a banquet. The contest also was based on maintaining a standard of performance during the marathon event. Most cars checked in here Sunday.

Scientists will begin a post-race seminar Thursday to determine what was learned.

Hoffa May Be Squeezed Out Of Teamsters Presidency

WASHINGTON (AP) — Early maneuverings for the Teamsters convention next year indicate the union's imprisoned president, James R. Hoffa, may finally be squeezed out.

Acting Teamsters President Frank E. Fitzsimmons, Hoffa's hand-picked stand-in, is letting it be known that he will run for the $100,000-a-year presidency of the 2 million member union—the world's largest—if Hoffa is "unavailable."

Hoffa is not likely to be available. He is serving an eight-year sentence for jury tampering in the federal penitentiary at Lewisburg, Pa., still appealing a five-year mail fraud conviction, and already has been turned down once for parole.

The betting in the union is that Hoffa will have a slim chance of succeeding when he comes up for parole again in March, probably his last chance to win freedom before the Teamsters presidential election at their convention in Miami Beach next July.

Two of the most powerful of the union's 12 vice presidents have already pledged Fitzsimmons their support for him to run for president in his own right, inside sources said. The two are Einar Mohn, who heads the union's West Coast division, and Murray W. (Dusty) Miller, head of the Teamsters Southern Conference.

Some sources speculate that Hoffa could win reelection even if he is still in prison, but Mohn and Miller are reliably reported to be opposed to letting him run.

A source close to Fitzsimmons said either Hoffa or Fitzsimmons could easily win election, but the decision on who the candidate will be is most likely to be made among the powerful vice presidents on the union's ruling Executive Board.

A move to nominate a still jailed Hoffa is likely to split the board and turn the election into a wide-open fight, a prospect that Teamsters leaders are likely to want to avoid.

Fitzsimmons reportedly has been well received by most other Teamsters leaders since he took over when Hoffa went to prison in 1967, because he reinstated the union's chain of command, which Hoffa often short-circuited to confer special favors and attention on some union members.

Hoffa retained the union's presidency when he went to prison but forfeited the $100,000 a year salary in lieu of an undisclosed financial arrangement to take care of his family.

Most sources agree that Hoffa could win reelection if he were freed on parole before the convention with no restrictions on running for office again, but other Teamsters leaders are reportedly planning on the basis that he will still be behind bars.

Old Songs Reflect 'Emotions Of Today'

By WES COOK
Associated Press Writer
KANSAS CITY (AP) — "Man hasn't changed much. I think these songs show that."

Loman Cansler stands with one foot on the seat of a chair. A guitar rests on his knee. He strums it unconsciously as he related the story of his next folk song.

"Some of the songs I have collected date back possibly two or three hundred years; others may not be much over 50-years-old."

Cansler is a native of Dallas County in the folklore rich Ozarks of Missouri. "I don't know when I first heard the term 'folk song,'" he said. "We never called them that."

Today the 46-year-old guidance counselor at North Kansas City High School is listed among the "who's who" of folksingers in America. He performed at the Smithsonian Institution's second American Folklife Festival in 1968 and has been featured in many other regional and national festivals.

HE EXPLAINED that he became interested in folk music while working on his masters degree at the University of Missouri. "One day I was back in the stacks at the library and I came across books by Henry Beldon and Carl Sandburg. I glanced through them hurriedly and I realized, 'My goodness, they're talking about stuff I grew up with.'"

Cansler wife, Laura, then told how the discovery affected him: "He went home the next weekend and started talking to his folks about the music. But he didn't start in earnest until 1953, when he got a tape recorder and began collecting from his Granddad Broyles and other members of his family." After the tape recorder arrived the Canslers began making regular trips into the field during their summer vacation. "Most of the people have been unbelievable in their cooperation," says Cansler. He's explained to the people that he wanted to hear the songs they'd learned by word of mouth from their parents and friends.

"Probably not over 25 percent of them played an instrument. They sang them acappella," Cansler explains. "And that's another aspect of our heritage that we don't think about too often. They used to sing these songs while they were working in the field, doing chores or housework. There was no accompaniment."

CANSLER, who began teaching in 1950 in Fayette, Mo., decided to introduce some folk songs into an American History class one day.

"I was singing 'When I went for to Take My Leave' and noticed tears slipping down the side of the face of a girl. It struck me that this had caught the impact of the feelings expressed by this Civil War soldier in the song."

His experience in the classroom encouraged him to write an article for the Missouri Council for the Social Studies in 1955 in which he urged teachers to "use folk songs and ballads as a springboard into the materials, as a supplement to history, to make the textbook come alive."

Since then he has had articles published in various folklore publications, and recorded an album in 1959 for Folkways Records on the folksongs of Missouri.

As folklore evidence that "man hasn't changed much," Cansler cites two of his favorite songs. One, "The Housekeepers Complaint," comes from a 100-year-old woman who learned it as a young girl in Ringgold County, Iowa.

ADJUSTING his glasses, Cansler glances down at his guitar and swings effortlessly into the rhythm. Then he sings: "Oh! Life is a toil and love is a trouble, And beauty will fade and riches will flee; And pleasures they dwindle and prices they double; And nothing is what I could wish it to be."

The other song is "Wait for the Turn of the Tide," a song Cansler collected from a woman in her 80s in Ray County, Mo. It also has a plaintive chorus. "Then try to be happy and gay my boys. Remember, the world is wide. Rome wasn't built in one day my boys. So wait for the turn of the Tide." "If you study the chorus from 'The Housekeepers Complaint,' and from this one," says Cansler, "if you look at the subject matter, of the pathos, the passions of men, of what they have done wrong and what they have done right, you'll find the story of a civilization."

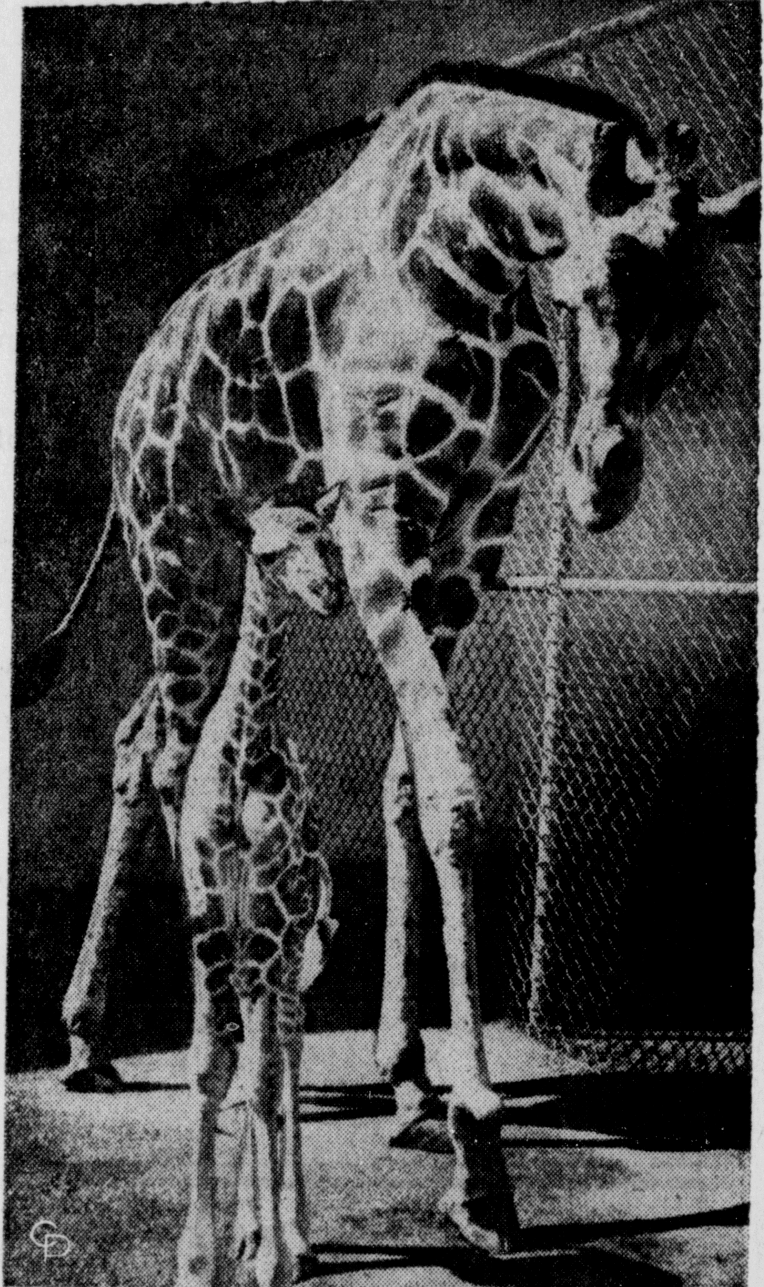

GUIDANCE COUNSELOR AND FOLKSINGER — Loman Cansler is shown here playing some of the folksongs he has collected. Cansler a native of the Ozarks of Missouri, became interested in folk music while working on his masters degree at the University of Missouri.

MILDRED GORDON — happy away from her typewriter.

Mildred Gordon—Novelist Turned Novelist

By VELMA KRAUCH
Central Press Association
ENCINO, Calif. — Most housewives in their countless calls upon service or repairmen nowadays, are not unfamiliar with the complaint, "Someday I'm going to get out of this business."

But whoever heard of a novelist, female and famous at that, declaring, "I can't wait for the day when I can give up writing and settle down to my plumbing and electrical wiring in peace and contentment?"

Mildred Gordon, of the husband-wife writing team, the Gordons, is just such a person. "I never really wanted to write in the first place. I'm much better at plumbing, house-painting and brick laying. But Gordon is such a disciplinarian, he insists I put in a 9 to 5 working day at the typewriter."

Mildred and her husband Gordon have collaborated on suspense novels for the past 20 years with a total of 15 books to their credit. Eight have been sold for movies, the most recent being "That Darn Cat." The film grossed top returns for the studio while the book, with its sequel "Undercover Cat Prowls Again," sold more than two million copies.

that are more fun than writing. Several of my writer friends admit the same symptoms when they settle down at the typewriter, but they handle it by sharpening all their pencils, straightening the top of the desk and cleaning out the drawers.

"Not me! I grab my trusty wrench and go to work on a dripping faucet or leaking pipe. That is, providing, Gordon doesn't find me first and send me back to the typewriter."

Since the two of them have separate offices in their home, Gordon has found it necessary to install an intercom. This relieves him of the bothersome task of scouting for Mildred when she slips away from the typewriter.

"At least I can keep an 'ear' on her this way," laughs Gordon.

MOST husbands would be overjoyed with a spouse who could manage all the nuisance type, mechanical jobs around the house, but Gordon's not so sure. "She's so handy with a wrench I can't begin to compete. In fact about the only mechanical thing I do now is change the ribbon on the typewriter, and I'm beginning to have my doubts about that."

According to Mildred, she served her plumbing "apprenticeship" during the depression.

"While I was free-lancing, Gordon was making all of $12.50 a week working for a newspaper. We were newly married, living in an old apartment, with scarcely enough money to eat, let alone squander on plumbing bills. My Kansas farm girl background came in plenty handy. I first started fixing stubborn drains and leaking faucets, then experimented with rewiring a worn out lamp. Before I knew it I was doing everything."

Miss Douds, Mr. Boylan To Make Home In Kent

MRS. MICHAEL W. BOYLAN
Portrait by McCoy Studio

Miss Sandra Lee Douds and Mr. Michael William Boylan were united in marriage in the First Presbyterian Church. The Rev. Gerald Wheat performed the double-ring ceremony at 11 a.m. Saturday, for the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel W. Douds, 920 Dayton Ave., and the son of Mrs. William Boylan, 826 Lincoln Dr., and the late Mr. Boylan.

Mr. Robert Anderson, of Greenfield, presented a prelude of music.

Vases of white carnations and white gladioli graced the altar and the family pews were marked with white satin bows.

Miss Douds wore a white brocade cotton floor-length gown with standing lace collar. A deep pleated train was caught at the waistline with a bow and a matching lace head band held the shoulder length veil. Her only jewelry was an emerald pendant, a gift of the groom. She carried a cascade of yellow and white rosebuds and ivy.

Miss Judith Bennett, of Worthington, maid of honor, wore a mint green silk floor-length gown with a white lace bodice, and a matching green head band. She carried a colonial bouquet of yellow rosebuds.

Mrs. Douds chose for her daughter's wedding a black and white quilted cotton dress with white accessories and a pink rosebud corsage. The bridegroom's mother wore a pastel blue linen dress with white trim, with which she combined white accessories and a white rosebud corsage. The bride's grandmother, Mrs. P. M. Cook, wore a white rose corsage.

Mr. Joseph Boylan served as best man for his brother. Seated in the wedding party were Mr. Michael Douds, brother of the bride, Mr. Paul Shaltry, of Columbus, and Mr. Cliff Page, of Kent.

Hostesses for the reception in Persinger Hall following the wedding were Miss Lorane Kruse, of Columbus, aunt of the bridegroom; Mrs. James Wilson and Mrs. Harvey Heironimus, both of Washington C. H.; and Mrs. John F. Jefferson, of Silver Spring, Md., aunts of the bride. Miss Jenny Jefferson, of Silver Spring, Md., presided at the guest book.

The bride's table held a three-tiered wedding cake surrounded by yellow daisies and leatherleaf. The hostesses wore white daisy corsages.

When Mr. and Mrs. Boylan left for a wedding trip the bride was wearing a pink hand-painted Hawaiian shift with white accessories and the white rosebud corsage from her bridal bouquet. Upon their return they will reside at 707 Park Ave., Kent. Mr. Boylan is on the faculty of the University School of Kent State University.

Mrs. Boylan is a graduate of Kent State and Mr. Boylan is a graduate of Wilmington College and Wittenberg University, Springfield.

Guests attended the wedding from Kent, Chagrin Falls, Cleveland, Columbus, Newark, and Piqua, Ohio, New York City, Silver Springs, Md., New Orleans, La., Philadelphia, Pa., and Blissfield, Mich.

Corn Relish Is Easy To Make

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
AP Food Editor

Refrigerator relishes are in vogue. They're so easy to put together and to store.

One of the best of these is a fresh corn relish. When we made up a batch of it in our test kitchen, we found it was delightful served with roast meat, roast or fried chicken, roast turkey and broiled or pan-fried fish. Here's the recipe:

FRESH CORN RELISH

6 to 8 medium-size ears fresh corn

1 medium-size onion, peeled and chopped

1 medium-size green pepper, seeded and chopped

1/2 cup chopped celery

2 drained canned pimientos, chopped

2 teaspoons salt

1/4 teaspoon pepper

2 teaspoons dry mustard

1/2 cup sugar

1 cup distilled white vinegar

Cut kernels from corn — there should be about 3 cups; reserve. Into a large saucepot turn the onion, green pepper, celery, pimientos, salt, pepper, mustard, sugar and vinegar. Heat to boiling.

Add corn; cover and simmer for 15 minutes, stirring occasionally. Remove from heat; cool.

FRESH CORN RELISH — It's stored in the refrigerator and is delicious with meat, poultry and fish.

Store, tightly covered, in refrigerator up to 2 weeks. Serve as an accompaniment for meat, poultry or fish. Makes about 1 quart.

Note: Knife-chop the onion, green pepper, celery and pimiento.

KITCHEN NOTES

Here are half a dozen suggestions for using leftover cooked corn. Cut the kernels from the ears, then team them in one of these ways:

1. Make up a green cabbage slaw, using cooked dressing, mayonnaise or French dressing. Add cooked corn kernels.

2. Add cooked corn kernels to the egg mixture when you are preparing scrambled eggs.

3. An old-fashioned vegetable soup made from a cream-sauce base and diced carrot, onion, celery and green beans can also have an addition of cooked corn kernels. Add the corn after the soup is made and reheat.

4. Add cooked corn kernels to pancake batter. They're also good in corn bread and corn muffins.

5. Sauté green pepper strips in butter until tender-crisp; stir in cooked corn kernels and reheat.

6. Slice celery and cook in salted boiling water just until tender - crisp; drain. Add a dollop of butter and cooked corn kernels and reheat. Or team the cooked celery and corn with a cream sauce; sprinkle with paprika before serving.

'Sex Symbol Superficial,' Raquel Says

By LINDA KRAMER
AP Newsfeatures Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — "The sex symbol concept is superficial," said Raquel Welch, curling her 37-22-35 1/2 frame on a couch in her New York hotel suite. "It's for magazines and audiences. You have a decorative effect."

"I'm flattered that people thought I was any kind of beauty," she continued. "There are all different kinds of sexuality. In comparison with Mae West, I'm a soft sell."

Miss Welch was in town for the opening of her new film, "Myra Breckinridge," in which she plays the title role and co-stars with Mae West, the sex symbol of the 1930s.

Asked to comment on Miss West's remark that she would never have played the role of Myra, and that no star should play it because she would lose her fans, Miss Welch retorted:

"That may have been true when she making the mainstay of her movies 30 years ago, but I'm not pursuing stardom. At this moment I'm well known and I want to do things that will lead to a better acting career."

IN THE FACE of the poor reviews and viewer criticisms such as, "You've destroyed everything decent," Miss Welch does not consider "Myra Breckinridge" a dirty or a bad film. In fact she considers Myra the only real acting role she's had.

"I become what I am when I'm doing something. My husband said that I became a bit swash-buckling when doing Myra," she commented with a slight smile. "I think the Myra in the movie is not a totally dislikeable character."

The movie, based on Gore Vidal's novel, is about a man transformed by an operation into a woman.

"It will offend some people and won't offend others," Miss Welch said, adding that "there's no real moral point to it. It's for entertainment purposes."

ALTHOUGH she defends the film, she admits that her children, Tahnee 6, and Damon 8, are too young to see it. "But for 15 and 16 year-olds, it's okay," she said firmly. "The sophistication of the American high school student today is greater than even five years ago."

On contemporary subjects and causes, Miss Welch is articulate and independent. For women's liberation groups who consider her a symbol of sexism, she has few kind words.

"I'm not interested in them at all. It's a comedy to have the most radical and unattractive of these leaders get on the international circuit and make bad feelings for women in general."

"No woman today needs a whole organization to carve out for her what she wants to do," she continued, adjusting to an Indian sitting position on the couch. "The problem today is that everyone thinks you need an entire organization behind you to do anything for yourself."

SEX SYMBOL? — The concept is superficial, says Raquel Welch the sexpot of the late '60s who stars in "Myra Breckinridge," the story of a man who through an operation changes sex — almost.

TURNING TO her own career, Miss Welch said that she pursued what she really wanted on her own.

"The structure in film making is not like 30 years ago when people used to protect you," she said. "Now you even have to fight your own studio to keep them from saying exploitive things about you."

Her independence carries over into the fashion area. "It's passe even to attempt to tell people something like what they should wear," she declared.

Looking down at the green popshirt she had on, Miss Welch swept her hand across her chest where "pow" was written and said "That's Americana. Clothing now is an expression of what you think. It's almost a status symbol to get knocked down by Women's Wear Daily."

ASKED ABOUT her famous trip to South Vietnam with the Bob Hope show two Christmases ago, Miss Welch recalled that "I was like a sister to the guys."

"There were no wolf calls and some of the guys were crying," she said. "It was an overwhelming experience."

Her own feelings about the war are inconclusive.

"I'd like to see the war end, but I'm confused about what should be done. I've ceased to believe anything anyone says," she commented with a shrug.

As for student opposition to the war, Miss Welch feels it is usually good. However, she is adamantly opposed to violence and destruction.

"People look for Utopia tomorrow. Everyone has dreams, but to say, 'look, I want it now,' to give an ultimatum, is to be unreasonable," she said.

ON A personal level, she is not involved in any political or social movements. "I'm not one of the great humanitarians of today," she commented, languidly crossing her long legs. "I'm sick and tired of crusades."

As a mother, wife and career woman, Miss Welch manages to keep herself busy. She lives in Los Angeles with her husband, Patrick Curtis and her two children. "I can't be the average mother of course, but we have a very close family."

As for her career, Miss Welch says that for the moment she's happy where she is, although it's pretty exhausting to be in films. In the future she'd like to do a play. "I've got nothing specific in mind, but I'd love to do a musical comedy."

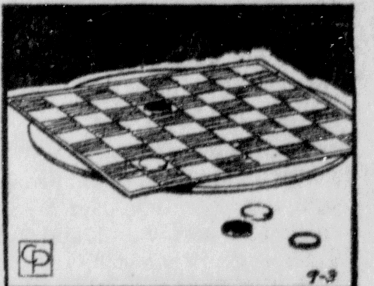

'Zaccheus' Guild Topic

"Zaccheus" was the topic at the meeting of the Dorcas Guild in the social room of the First Christian Church Tuesday. Mrs. Naomi Helm presented the topic.

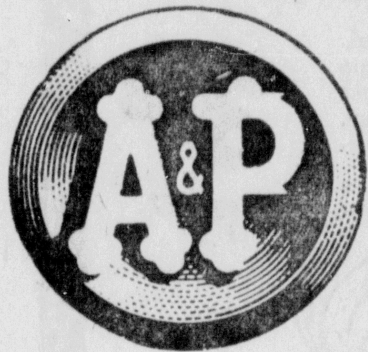

Devotions entitled "Faith" were led by Mrs. Russell Knapp and Mrs. Harold Wilson conducted the session. Reports were made by Mrs. Ted Irvin when she announced that the group will continue to make bibs for patients in the VA Hospital at Chillicothe.

Hostesses for the afternoon were Mrs. Wilson, Mrs. Edna Blake and Mrs. Elizabeth Hall. The Guild will meet again Oct. 6.

Cattlemen Cry Over Poor Profits

By JIM BRIGANCE
Associated Press Writer

MADISONVILLE, Tex. (AP) — For decades he has been loved by children, lionized by historians and exploited by Hollywood. But the American cowboy today finds himself misunderstood by, of all people, the American housewife.

The showdown these two face won't be in the muddy streets of a Coffeyville, Laredo or Cheyenne but in supermarket aisles all over America.

The housewife will be the loner in this battle—facing the cowpoke, his boss, the computerized feed lots, the packer and the grocer.

Though beef prices have climbed dramatically in the 20 years since the Korean War, ranchers say their profits actually have dwindled.

All the others in the meat industry say, too, that they are not getting rich.

The Agriculture Department confirms that in 1951 the average paid for live beef was just over $35 per 100 pounds. Last December it was $30.

Bobby Samuel, 38, is head of the Samuel and Samuel Land and Cattle Co.—an operation which sprawls over five south-east Texas counties of loamy grassland and pine stands.

The Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers' Association describes Samuel's ranch as a mirror of the industry found most anywhere in the country today.

"The three biggest expenses in beef-raising," he explains,

"are interest, labor and feed. The three biggest headaches are management, the market and the weather. We're always at the mercy of weather."

"Everything around here is mortgaged," he said. "I plow everything I earn back into the ranch."

Samuel maintains an office downtown. According to his bookkeeping, it costs him on the average of $156.62 to produce a 460-pound calf.

"On the average, I sell that calf for $34.25 per 100 pounds or a total of $157.55. That leaves me an average 93 cents profit," he said.

Samuel figures it costs him $20 for feed for each calf, $15 for labor, $2.50 for gas, oil and grease for ranch machinery, $5 for fertilizer for the grass each calf consumes, $1.25 for weed spray, $4 for repairs to the equipment, $15 in depreciation on the bulls and cows, $30 for pasture lease, $18 in interest and the list goes on.

Samuel says the ranch has never lost money but the balancing act is precarious.

Here's the Answer

By ANDY LANG
AP Newsfeatures

Q — We'd like to paint the fiberboard walls that have just been put up in our attic. Can they be painted the same as plaster walls?

A. — A primer-sealer is necessary. Make sure you purchase the kind that goes with the type of paint you are using — water-thinned if you are using latex paint, solvent-thinned if it is to be an oil paint.

Q — I have put a wood filler on a chestnut cabinet. Can I put varnish right over it or must a sealer be used first?

A. — Use a sealer to be certain that the filler is not dislodged by the varnish.

Q — The wood planks in our attic were varnished several years ago. We now want to paint them. Must the varnish be removed?

A. — No. You can paint right over the varnish, but not until it is thoroughly cleaned.

Using a clean cloth moistened with denatured alcohol, wipe the walls to remove all dust. When the cloth gets soiled, use another. After the surface is dry (alcohol evaporates quickly), look for shiny areas. They must be sanded lightly with a fine grade of sandpaper. Wipe off all grit, then go ahead with the painting.

Q — The plaster walls in our kitchen are dusty but not greasy, since we have an exhaust fan. How should they be cleaned preparatory to painting?

A. — With a clean, dry mop or cloth if that is sufficient to take off the dust; a damp mop if it is necessary. If the damp method is used, be sure the walls are thoroughly dry before starting to paint. In any case, be sure you do not use an oil mop.

Q — Can hardboard panels be used on the walls around a bathtub?

A. — Yes, but get the kind that has a plastic surface.

Q — I applied mineral oil on a cherry dining room cabinet. That was two weeks ago and the surface is still tacky. What went wrong?

A. You probably neglected to wipe off the excess oil immediately after applying. Try wiping off the tackiness with turpentine. If it needs a recoating, put the oil on a small area, then quickly go over it with a clean cloth. Repeat the process in another area and continue in that fashion. After about an hour, rub the entire surface vigorously. Wait about a week, then give the surface another rubdown.

Volpe Pushes Commuter Use Of Buses

WASHINGTON (AP) — Transportation Secretary John A. Volpe has told states and cities to enhance commuter use of buses or take a loss in their share of federal highway money.

Volpe announced Tuesday that future allocations from the $5 billion highway trust fund would depend in part on provisions for exclusive bus highways, lanes, exit ramps and other preferential bus treatment.

He ordered federal road engineers in all 50 states to "encourage the greatest use of buses in preference to individual automobiles" in an effort to unclog traffic arteries.

The order affects construction and improvement of all federal-aided highways. The federal share can reach 90 per cent in such projects.

Government sources said the move is designed in part to disarm congressional critics who say the highway trust fund should be tapped for direct aid to mass transit, such as subway construction.

Transportation officials cautioned, however, that success of the bus-encouragement policy will depend largely on initiatives by city transit firms, many of which are in dire financial straits.

PAULEY-MEDDOCK WEDS

Miss Wanda Lee Pauley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Pauley, Rt. 1, Sabina, and Mr. Merlin Daryl Meddock, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ollie Meddock, Rt. 2, New Vienna, were married Sunday afternoon in the Sabina United Methodist Church. The Rev. William Crouch performed the double ring ceremony at 2 o'clock.

Miss Pauley wore a dull taffeta white street length, straight lined dress with scalloped neckline. The long sleeves were of tulle lace. Her flowers were white carnations. Her father gave her in marriage.

Mrs. Warren Pauley, her only attendant, was dressed in a brown and white cotton plaid A-line frock with puffy white sleeves, white collar and cuffs.

Mr. Marvin Meddock served as his brother's best man. The bride's mother was in a gold suit with gold blouse and the bridegroom's mother in a pale yellow with blouse striped with yellow.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride. The wedding cake was white with yellow flowers.

gating the robbery, which is believed to have taken place between 2 and 6:30 a.m. Monday.

Central State Foundation Eyed By IRS

WILBERFORCE, Ohio (AP)—The Internal Revenue Service says a Central State University foundation has not been making tax reports and the IRS—along with two Central State trustees—wants to know why.

IRS officials in Cincinnati and Philadelphia said the foundation—an independent nonprofit corporation—has not filed tax returns since it was organized by university trustees and administrators in October, 1968.

The IRS is threatening the association with loss of its tax-exempt status if it does not file a report immediately.

The two trustees, Dr. Dwight M. Pemberton and Dr. Carl Jenkins, both of Springfield, said they have been refused public information on the foundation's financial dealings.

The foundation's articles of incorporation hold it legally accountable to the university board of trustees and require it to submit annual public reports.

University President Dr. Herman R. Branson, a member of the foundation's board of governors, said reports have been made to the board and promised a report to trustees soon, possibly when they meet Sunday before commencement.

The nonprofit foundation owns and operates a 50-unit apartment near the CSU campus for faculty and staff members.

The foundation bought the apartment building in 1968 for $695,000—$300,000 from private sources and $395,000 from a trust loan covered by the Cleveland Trust Bank. John Bustamonte, former trustee chairman at CSU was instrumental in setting up the loan. He was an attorney for Cleveland Trust at the time.

Trespass Charge Against DP&L Man Dismissed

A trespassing charge filed against Lee Shonkwiler, 50, of 407 Western Ave., a Dayton Power and Light Co. employee arrested while attempting to collect an overdue utility bill, was dismissed in Municipal Court Wednesday at the request of the prosecuting witness.

William Stolzenburg, 804 Maple St., filed the complaint against Shonkwiler Aug. 19. Shonkwiler reportedly went to the Stolzenburg home to request payment of a bill.

Electrical service was disconnected the second time Shonkwiler went on the premises, this time accompanied by a city police officer. Stolzenburg reportedly told Shonkwiler to leave his property both times.

Judge Reed M. Winegardner dismissed the charge, noting that both Stolzenburg and the prosecuting attorney were in agreement on the dismissal.

The weekly prayer breakfasts for teenagers will be resumed Sept. 15 at 6:45 a.m. at the South Side Church of Christ, 921 S. Fayette St.

The purpose of the prayer breakfast is to connect the faith in Christ with our everyday life and to draw on that source of power that is available through Christ, said the Rev. Mr. Richmond.

The prayer breakfasts are sponsored by individuals, organizations and businesses which are interested in the youth in our community.

Ladies Guests Of Jeff Lions

JEFFERSONVILLE — This week's dinner meeting of the Lions Club marked ladies night for 13 members and their guests.

Tentative plans for a sausage and pancake supper sometime in November or December were made, and reports were given on the Little League and Babe Ruth League baseball programs during the summer. The Lions club sponsored teams in both leagues.

A report also was made on the chartered baseball bus trip the Lions and their wives made to Cincinnati two weeks ago.

The meeting was conducted by President Willis (Bud) Ray. Attendance at the ladies night dinner was cut by the State Fair and baseball games.

During the summer meetings are held only once a month; beginning in October they will be held twice a month.

Revolutionary Jerry Rubin Uses Foundation Tax Shelter

WASHINGTON (AP)—Yippie leader Jerry Rubin, using the laws of "the system" he seeks to destroy, has set up a tax-exempt foundation to shield a major portion of his income from federal tax collectors.

The foundation, called the Social Education Foundation and also known as the Jerry Rubin Fund, holds the copyright on Rubin's best-selling, revolution-preaching book, "Do It!" Proceeds from the book go to the foundation and are thereby protected from income tax assessments.

Among other things, the Rubin book calls on young people to leave their homes, burn their schools and create a new society.

Legal papers filed with the Internal Revenue Service say the foundation would, among other things, use its funds for "relief of the poor, distressed and underprivileged... Lessen the burdens of government... defend human and civil rights secured by law... and make awards to citizens who render conspicuous service to the community."

The foundation, however, is 3½ months delinquent in filing a mandatory tax statement with IRS.

The foundation was incorporated in New York in May 1969. The sole trustee is Nancy S. Kurshan, identified in the past as Rubin's wife.

How much money Rubin and other benefactors have shoveled into the foundation could not be determined. The tax statements of tax-exempt foundations are public records, but Rubin's foundation has not filed any tax statement.

And his literary agent and lawyer aren't saying how much he's made. "We have a normal setup," Carl Brandt, Rubin's New York literary agent said in a telephone interview. "Simon & Schuster (publishers of 'Do It!') send over the proceeds, I take my fee off the top and forward the rest to the foundation's mailing address." Brandt would not divulge the address.

Rubin's lawyer, Abraham L. Wax, would say even less. "Write me a letter," he told a reporter.

The foundation papers filed last year say the organization had assets of $2,000 when formed.

Rubin, convicted with four other members of the Chicago 7 in connection with the violent demonstrations in Chicago at the 1968 Democratic National Convention, could not be reached for elaboration.

Rep. William Scherle, R-Iowa, who first heard of the foundation, called it "a disgrace and an affront to the ordinary law-abiding citizens of this country that a man like Rubin should be granted a tax haven for the profits of his propaganda. The director of the IRS should revoke his tax exemption."

"We should not be forced to subsidize our own destruction with our own taxes."

President Nixon, Like JFK and LBJ, Uses Robot Name—Signing Apparatus

By CLARK KINNAIRD
Central Press Association
NEW YORK — There is circumstantial evidence Richard Nixon is carrying on as President one deception practiced by John F. Kennedy and continued by Lyndon B. Johnson.

The authority for this is Charles Hamilton, specialist-dealer in documentary writing of all kinds. You can take Hamilton's word for this: President Nixon is utilizing an automaton similar in workings to the ones that protected Mr. Kennedy and Mr. Johnson as presidents from writer's cramp and consequently, made many signatures authentically from their hands, while occupants of the White House, among the rarest of presidential autographs.

Hamilton identifies Mr. Kennedy as the first president to allow thousands of letters to be signed with his name by a robot apparatus, Autopen 50.

Although this was denied indignantly by the Kennedy press secretary, Pierre Salinger, Hamilton presented in "The Robot That Helped Make a President," published in 1965, overwhelming confirmation of Autopen usage of Autopen 50 as senator, presidential candidate, and chief executive.

A KENNEDY White House spokesman, Kenneth O'Donnell, subsequently conceded that "much routine mail was processed through a machine which duplicated his authentic signature."

Hamilton presented evidence that at least six different patterns, or matrices, were used in the Autopen-inking of the Kennedy scrawl which, incidentally, Hamilton regards as the most illegible of all presidential autographs.

The machine itself is responsible for further variations, so any two Kennedy autographs from the Autopen may not be identical.

This is true similarly of the Lyndon B. Johnson and Richard Nixon automated signatures that appear absolutely authentic to the non-expert.

All three men had some precedent for evading the writing chores required or expected of presidents. Back in the George Washington, John Adams and Thomas Jefferson administrations, endless appointments, commissions, citations, proclamations, land grants, patents, and legislation were sent to the White House for signature, in addition to correspondence with officials and plain citizens.

VARIOUS devices were employed to evade some of the tiresome handiwork. The inventive Thomas Jefferson provided himself with a polygraph that duplicated his

TWO EXAMPLES (above) of Nixon autographs are identified by Charles Hamilton as "written in pen-and-ink by the Autopen 50," a device which can scribble 3,000 signatures in a working day. Below is an example of pre-presidential informality as a signer — in this case inscribed in a book.

LBJ Reported Pleased By Agnew Report On Vietnam

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former President Lyndon B. Johnson has been briefed on the situation in Southeast Asia by Vice President Spiro T. Agnew, and a vice presidential spokesman indicated Johnson was pleased with what he heard.

Agnew spent nearly three hours with the former president at the LBJ Ranch near Johnson City, Tex., Wednesday evening before flying to Washington to end a 27,000-mile, five nation Asian journey.

Earlier in the day, Agnew addressed the American Legion convention in Portland, Ore.

"The President (Johnson) didn't indicate he was unhappy about anything," an Agnew spokesman said on the flight back to Washington. Newsweek were not permitted to cover the session at the LBJ Ranch.

Agnew, meanwhile, was quoted as saying "the experience accumulated by presidents of the United States is a precious commodity." He was expected to convey Johnson's reaction on the briefing to President Nixon.

The vice president plans to go Ocean City, Md., later today for a weekend rest before launching political campaigning next Thursday in Casper, Wyo.

Johnson, reportedly looking tanned and relaxed, greeted Agnew and other members of the vice president's party on arrival at the ranch airstrip after a flight from Berstrom AFB near Austin.

After a 10 minute talk inside the main ranch house, Johnson and Agnew spent more than an hour driving about the ranch and discussing the impressions gathered by Agnew in South Korea, Nationalist China, Vietnam, Cambodia and Thailand.

Later, the two chatted with other members of the vice presidential party. Agnew's spokesman said the former president described the session as pleasant and cordial and Agnew agreed.

Lake County Fair Injuries Bring Two Law Suits

PAINESVILLE, Ohio (AP) — A Painesville man has filed two suits totaling $40,460 against a company operating amusement rides at the Lake County Fair after his two children were injured on a kiddie ride at the fair.

The suits filed by Charles P. Eldridge against the Nolan Co. ask $27,280 for his daughter, Yvette, 2, and $13,180 for his son, Charles.

Eldridge claims his daughter was thrown under the ride when it started with a jolt and was dragged about 20 feet, causing her to suffer lacerations, contusions, bruises and a concussion.

Charles suffered internal kidney damage, shock and other injuries, the suit said.

The children were riding in separate cars when the accident occurred, Eldridge said.

The coffee tree is subject to 375 diseases, including 10 serious ones, of which the worst is the coffee rust.

Type Speaks Loudest, Psychiatrist Says

By JOY STILLEY
AP Newsfeatures Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — This time it was the psychiatrist who sprawled on the couch and talked — talked about his practice confined to young people in the creative and performing arts, talked about his new novel, his books, plays, movie script and poetry, talked about music, art and the theater.

But most of all, 32-year-old Dr. David Viscott talked about the need for communication and about the "Sensitivity" greeting cards he has originated for people reluctant to articulate their emotions.

"It's hard for someone to admit that he's wrong, that a situation is bad or that he has been hurt," he said, looking boyish and earnest as he described the problem of expressing honest feelings.

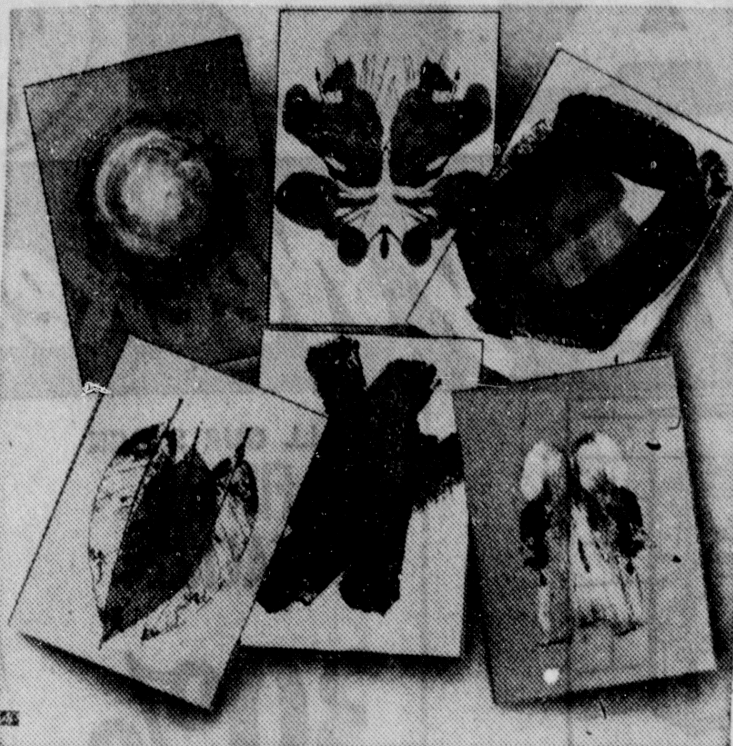

"Anger is especially difficult to put into words. Most of the time people bottle it up and let it grow," said the bouncy, ebullient Bostonian who wears his hair fashionably long and speaks in gestures as well as words. He was in New York to talk about the cards he and Boston advertising executive Joah Kalb have created.

"They're wedges, to pry the door open just a little and allow for better communication," he said. "Most people in a painful situation have so much pain that words just pour out of their mouths and in the end you don't know what they've said."

IN THE Sensitivity cards, Dr. Viscott has said it for them succinctly: "Not always, but sometimes, it's your fault;" "You don't solve problems with a kiss;" "You take my love like medicine, one spoon at a time;" or "You hurt me." These cards are categorized under "Your Hangups," and make up a third of the 60 brief and pointed messages.

Another 20 cards are under "My Hangups." These include "You were right, of course, but I just couldn't tell you that;" "I don't trust yet. I want to, but I just don't;" and "I do love you, even if I can't say it all the time."

In the "Our Hangups" group are statements such as, "If we can't talk, we can't grow;" "If safety in numbers, you know;" Dr. Viscott, who defines sensitivity as "communication of honest feeling while caring for the feeling of others," selected cover designs to help from here to China and back — they're my business," said Dr. Viscott, sitting up suddenly and parking his buckle shoes on the tiled coffee table. "The No Hangups are harder — I'm afraid they'll end up being trite."

AMONG his creations in that division are "Life means more now;" "I measured it. I'm skipping six inches above the ground;" and "Thank you for touching my life;"

"These are direct, simple, easy-to-understand statements," Dr. Viscott continued. "Besides being to the point they have the advantage of being put in print by someone else, which means it must be a universal feeling. If it's a common feeling it's okay to have it — there's the message inside come through. They take the form of ink blots, kaleidoscopic views, bold brush strokes or soft blended tones.

"Take the graphics on the card, 'Much of the time, you frighten me,'" he explained. "Here's this little blib being overpowered by a big blib and you're confronted visually by how one persons is overwhelming the other."

A graduate of Dartmouth College and Tufts Medical School, Dr. Viscott served as senior psychiatrist at Bridgewater State Hospital in Massachusetts. His novel, "Labyrinth of Silence," is based on that experience. He got interested in teen-agers when he worked with them in an experimental theater, and now specializes in "creative young people who have different hangups."

"Basically creative people have all the problems everyone else has, to be dealt with in the regular way, plus the problem of confronting themselves in their art in a direct and measurable way," he said. "Like it's either a good or a bad painting, the music sounds good or not, the sculpture works or doesn't."

"They're putting a part of themselves that was formerly very private on public display. They seem to live a whole life cycle around each creative process. After completing it they can suffer depression comparable to postpartum depression in a new mother."

FATHER of three children age 4 to 9, Dr. Viscott advises parents to "listen to kids and don't comment; just let it soak in. Listen to lyrics of the songs they're singing to find out what they're into. Try to remember what you wanted when you were their age and how you felt, but not how you acted."

While many of his Sensitivity cards appear to be relevant to male-female relationships, Dr. Viscott insists they can bridge the communication gap between any two people.

"One woman in California bought a dozen of the ones that say 'When I'm with you I feel complete' and uses them as invitations for a party," he laughed.

A Laysan albatross once flew 4,120 miles from the Philippines to Midway Atoll in the Pacific for the longest such flight on record.

WRITER DIES — One of France's greatest contemporary writers, Francois Mauriac (shown in 1952), 85, died at his home in Paris. During his career he produced 75 volumes of poems, plays and novels.

Don Emmett

One Song Made Dan Emmett Famous

By JERRY KLEIN
Central Press Assn.

IT was a dark, rainy Sunday about a century ago. In a New York City boarding house, an obscure musician was scraping away at his violin and wishing he was in a better place.

Suddenly a thought came to him. Within an hour, he had written a song that would excite the emotions of millions of Americans and earn him a place in musical history — but which almost got him lynched!

The unhappy musician was a writer of minstrel songs named Daniel Emmett. And the melody he procured that dismal day would become known as "Dixie."

GAZING from his window at the gloomy, rain-spattered streets, Emmett muttered to himself: "I wish I was in Dixie's Land." Familiar people in theatrical work, this expression meant a desire to be in the South, where the weather was better and the living easier.

This time, though, hearing the phrase triggered Emmett to get feverishly busy. He presented the finished melody and words to his music hall employers the very next day, and they thought it "good enough to print."

With the title "Dixie's Land," it was first sung at a minstrel performance on Sept. 19, 1859. It was a great success and soon became a minstrel favorite.

"BEFORE the end of the week, everybody in New York was whistling it," Emmett said. "I sold the copyright for $500, which was all I ever made from it. The South took it up and claimed it for its own."

"Dixie" seems first to have been played, below the Mason-Dixon Line, in New Orleans. From there "it flashed over the South."

The Confederacy first used it at the inauguration ceremonies of President Jefferson Davis, and during the War Between the States, Emmett "was almost lynched" as a Southern sympathizer.

ACTUALLY Dan had been born a Northerner, in Mount Vernon, Ohio, in 1815. As a youth he worked as a blacksmith's helper and on newspapers, but from his mother he had inherited a talent for music.

At the age of 15, in fact, he wrote another famous American ballad, "Old Dan Tucker."

For three years Dan did Army duty as a fifer. Then he travelled with circus bands for a time before organizing the first Negro minstrel troupes in New York.

He even designed their costumes: white pants, striped calico shirts, blue swallow-tail coats. Emmett not only played several instruments, he also wrote dozens of original melodies of all kinds for these shows.

Even in 1859, he wrote quite a few songs besides "Dixie," but fate singled out this one for national, and enduring, fame.

Some of his other airs include "Cross Over Jordan" and "Road to Richmond."

TOWARD the end of the Civil War in which "Dixie" started down the road to fame, Abraham Lincoln had the song played in Washington as a symbol of national unity.

For 20 years its originator was lost from public attention, but in the 1880s Emmett renewed his minstrel tours. But now, though he used the old-time theatrical gestures, he had a tremulous voice.

Still, he received great ovations in such Southern strongholds as Richmond, Nashville and Charlottesville. "Dixie" seemed to bring back memories of a heroic time.

When Emmett finally retired to his home in Ohio, he lived on an irregular income from Actors Fund benefits and autographed copies of his most famous song.

When the composer died in 1904, "Dixie" was played at the graveside.

It was Daniel Decatur Emmett who himself said in his modest, unassuming way: "If I'd known the song was going to be so popular, I'd have written it better!"

Ohio Employment Up In First Quarter

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Employment and total payrolls were up slightly the first quarter of 1970, despite a slowdown in the nation's economy, the Bureau of Employment Services reported.

Ohio employment in March totaled 2.9 million—an increase of 1.3 per cent over the same period last year. Payrolls were up 4.4 per cent over a year ago, totaling $5.5 billion.

Dayton City Official Takes New Position

Brenda Vaccaro—No Nudes Is Good News

By ARMY ARCHER
Central Press Association

HOLLYWOOD — Here's start- ling news — an actress who will NOT do a nude scene!

She's Brenda Vaccaro who raised Hollywood's eyebrows when she refused to bare her all for her art.

The pretty — and outspoken — new star not only surprised everyone by nixing a nude scene, but also amazed most here in Hollywood who noted she turned down the scene in a film with her boy friend Michael Douglas who co-stars in the picture, "Summertime" — which is produced by his papa, Kirk Douglas.

She claims she turned down the scene not only because it was a nude, "But," she laughed, "also because of my figure." (Believe me she's got nothing to worry about!)

Douglas, meanwhile, didn't balk as she asked for a double. He did it with the newly-arrived actress.

After "Summertime," Miss Vaccaro had an offer to play the role of Kirk Douglas' wife in "A Gunfight." Further, Kirk's youngest son, Eric (12) plays his sprig in the film, and thus would have been mothered by Miss Vaccaro in the film!

However, all agreed it wouldn't be a good idea for her to follow playing Mike's girl friend by next portraying his father's wife. "It's too incestuous," said Kirk.

SO WHAT happened? Brenda and Michael, very much in love and admittedly so, took off on a European trip together.

"No, we're not getting mar- ried," she claimed, "We just love each other."

The Brooklyn - born and Dal- las-bred lassie became a star in the theater before Hollywood discovered her. She won three Antoinette Perry (Tony) award nominations — each in a different category before her film debut in the Oscar-winning "Midnight Cowboy."

Since then, Brenda has been in front of the cameras constantly in: "Where It's At," "I Love My Wife" and "Summertime." In the last- mentioned, she plays a student nurse in an unusual relationship with a draft-conscious college student played by Douglas, Michael, that is.

In "Midnight Cowboy," Brenda portrayed the swinger who meets Dustin Hoffman and Jon Voight at a wild party — then takes Voight home for "professional" work.

In "Where It's At," she was secretary to David Janssen, owner of a Las Vegas casino. (In that film, Janssen and his girl friend, Rosemary Forsyth, had a nude scene — and played it themselves).

In "I Love My Wife," she stars as Elliott Gould's wife — who grows less attractive with each month of pregnancy.

BRENDAS first long-run Broadway appearance was in "Cactus Flower" with Lauren Bacall and Barry Nelson for which she won one of her Tony nominations as best supporting actress.

Ironically it's the role that won Goldie Hawn an Oscar in the film version of the play.

The fun-loving Vaccaro frank- ly admits she wants to be a big star.

"I WANT the best label pos- sible," Brenda laughs. "And 'Star' is it. Let's face it, not only in Hollywood, but any place, restaurants, gas stations — and even in church, people are treated according to their label. In my profession a star receives respect given no one else.

"In one show, I remember I always sat on one of the props before making my entrance. But I also saw a chorus girl get chewed out for sitting on the same crummy piece of junk!"

"We may be born equal," the young lass of Sicilian ancestry emphasized, "but that changes soon as you get your label. Sophia Loren can go places in slacks that wouldn't let me in the back door dressed the same way."

"Sure, I want that Sophia Loren and Elizabeth Taylor get. And that's the best scripts, freedom of choice — and freedom to be myself. And respect."

Any actress who chooses not to go naked in the world of Hollywood today sounds like an actress who has certainly proven her freedom of choice. An gets our vote of respect.

Sailor Charged In Murder Case

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Au- thorities have charged Richard Carl Denney, 20, with murder in the death of Nellie M. White, 59, whose battered body was found in northern Montgomery County late Tuesday.

Officials said Denney was AWOL from the USS Suffolk County off Virginia Beach, Va. He gave himself up Wednesday. Authorities believe the woman was killed in Virginia and brought to Ohio, where her body—clad in a nightgown and wrapped in a blanket — was dumped Monday night.

The first ponies are believed to have lived in Asia.

Texans Seek Encore With Quarterback Replacement

By DENNE FREEMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

National champion Texas tries for an encore this year without a weak-armed quarterback who guided the Longhorns to 20 consecutive victories on a steady diet of converting 4th- and two situations.

James Street's name and clutch play was his game.

He rallied the Longhorns from 14-0 deficits to Oklahoma and Arkansas and 10-0 to Notre Dame in the Cotton Bowl.

The fiery unbeaten leader of the burnt orange has completed his eligibility and turned the controls over to Eddie Phillips, who has tremendous ability but is unproven in a pressure cooker.

Coach Darrell Royal is confident Phillips can handle the job.

Royal says "Phillips' mechanics and execution are just as good as Street's and he's a good runner. All he needs is to win. Confidence is the thing that helps any quarterback and it comes only from winning."

In fact, the secondary worries Royal more than the quarterbacking.

"We are extremely thin back there," he says.

The loss of junior Freddie Steinmark, who lost his left leg in a cancer operation Dec. 12, left only Danny Lester and Rick Nabors as experienced defensive backs.

"I don't know what we'd do if they got hurt," Royal says.

Texas has All-America quality folks in fullback Steve Worster, halfback Jim Bertelsen, split end Cotton Speyrer, offensive tackle Bobby Wuensch, defensive end Bill Atessis and linebackers Scott Henderson and Bill Zapalac.

While Texas is the favorite to win the Southwest Conference championship and perhaps another national title, the Arkansas Razorbacks loom as a prime roadblock.

The combination of quarterback Bill Montgomery to wide receiver Chuck Dicus is one of the most feared pass-and-run combinations in the land. Bill Burnett adds a potent force at tailback.

Coach Frank Broyles is mostly worried about his green, inexperienced but huge offensive line.

"The offensive line replacements are going to have to get good all of a sudden," says Broyles. "Offensive linemen don't look good until they gain some confidence. The offensive line requires more learning than any other phase of our game."

And Broyles adds, "They have the physical talents, if they can gain the confidence."

The remainder of the SWC is still a good step behind Arkansas and Texas in over-all depth, but each club except perhaps Baylor boasts some individuals who could dish out some upset poison on a given Saturday.

Good quarterbacks are plentiful in the SWC. There's Chuck Hixson at Southern Methodist, who needs only 10 completions to break the all-time NCAA record; Charles Napper of Texas Tech and Steve Judy at Texas Christian.

Hixson is a remarkable athlete who has completed 482 of 830 pass attempts for 5,416 yards and 39 touchdowns in SMU's "30-yards and a whirl-of-wind" offense.

Coach Hayden Fry says "Hixson's got probably the quickest release in collegiate football. And he can think. He checked off at the line of scrimmage for 12 touchdown passes his sophomore year."

Broyles says flatly "He's the greatest college passer I've ever seen."

Royal adds, "His greatest asset is that when a receiver pops open, he can hit him in a New York second."

Texas A&M, under coach Gene Stallings, has a talented group of sophomores and juniors headed by quarterback Lex James and running back Brad Dusek but the Aggies play a killer road schedule—Louisiana State, Ohio State and Michigan.

Texas Tech's Red Raiders have a new coach—energetic Jim Carlen—and should be most troublesome particularly with the gifted Napper as the man under.

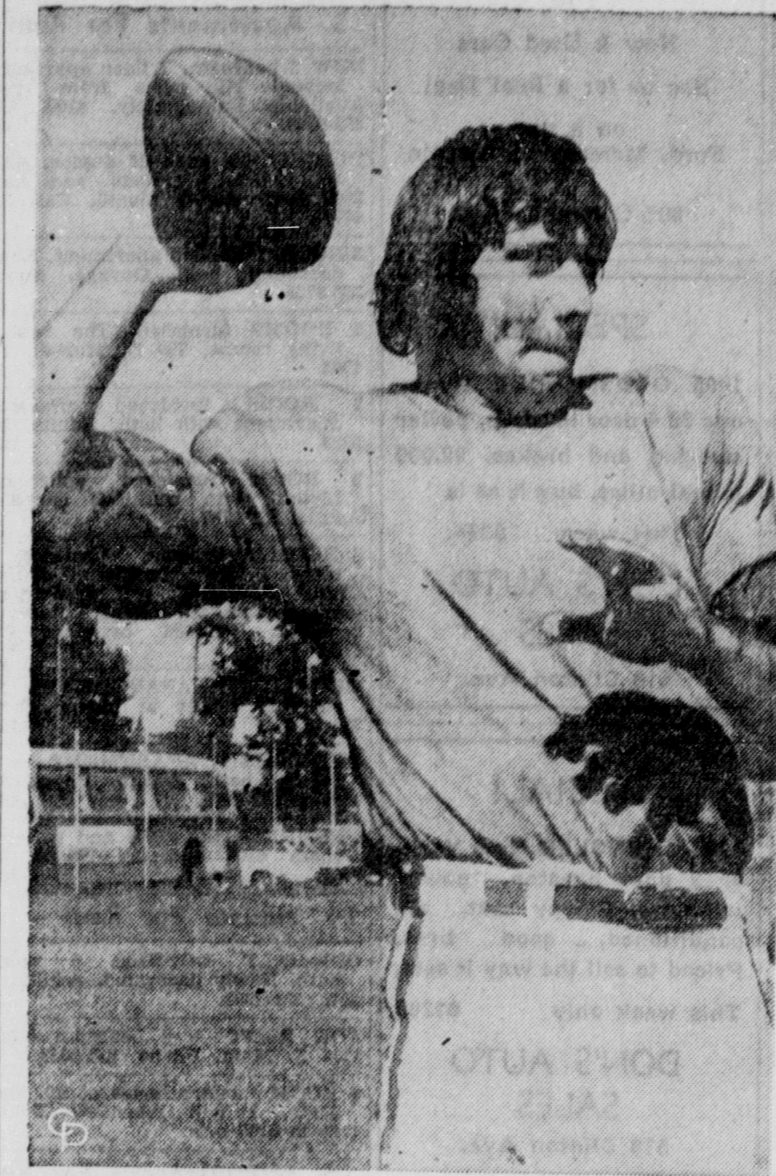

TCU is big and brawny and Judy can make coach Fred Taylor's offense hum but the Horned Frogs are lacking in team speed, something which always seems to keep them a step away from the SWC crown.

Rice has the most lettermen back in the SWC. Coach Bo Hagan concedes this is his most talented squad and with a few good bounces the Owls could jump into the SWC first division.

Baylor is winless under Coach Bill Beall and the Bears have neither the depth, speed or brawn to compete. Punter Ed Marsh, the NCAA leader last year, is the only player worth writing home about.

The SWC has been the scene of some wild, wild upsets but it would really take a stunner to keep Texas and Arkansas from their "Big Shootout" No. 2 on Dec. 5 in Austin with unblemished records.

Houston is the best of the independents in the Southwest with receiver Elmo Wright one of the finest in the nation. Cougar coach Bill Yoeman has quarterback problems since undefeated signal caller Gary Mullins will not be able to play this year because of injury. Houston should be tough on defense and still have plenty of offensive firepower.

JOE'S BACK—Pro football's controversial quarterback Joe Namath tosses a pass to a teammate during practice session of the New York Jets at their Hempstead, N.Y., training camp. Joe reported to camp 11 days late.

Baltimore's Unitas Anchors Colt's Championship Dreams

By TOM EMORY
Associated Press Sports Writer

BALTIMORE (AP) — A rich crop of rookies and a steady group of veterans has Baltimore Colts' fans thinking championship again as their heroes enter their first year in the American Conference of the National Football League.

Don Shula, who guided the fortunes of the Colts for the past seven years, has become head coach and part owner of the Miami Dolphins. Taking his place is Don McCafferty, a highly-respected former assistant coach, getting his first opportunity as top man.

McCafferty's ingredients for a successful team begin, as all Colt teams for the past 15 years have begun, with quarterback Johnny Unitas.

Unitas looks strong again in 1970 after sitting out most of the 1968 campaign and having a so-so season last year. Preseason games have shown him to be moving the ball well and mixing his plays like the Johnny U of old.

Right behind Unitas is Earl Morrall, the quarterback who was the NFL Most Valuable Player in 1968 when he guided the Colts to the Super Bowl after Unitas was sidelined with a sore arm.

Morrall is pressing Unitas for the starting job but the conflict can only bring a smile to McCafferty's face to have two highly capable quarterbacks on his team when some clubs are straining to find one.

Baltimore's 8-5-1 record for 1969 was a big drop from the previous year's 13-1 mark, an NFL playoff victory over Cleveland, 34-0, and a Super Bowl contest against the New York Jets which it lost, 16-7.

Falcons Lack Experience

By ED SHEARER
Associated Press Sports Writer

ATLANTA (AP) — Slogans flourish in the world of sports and the Atlanta Falcons enter their second season under the label, "A Team for Now."

It sounds good but doesn't really mean anything. It's an escape from being tabbed an expansion team or a team for the future, which in reality Atlanta is.

Norm Van Brocklin, the whip-cracking head coach, has been building on youth since he took over after three games of the 1968 season. His 1969 team posted a 6-8 record, closing with victories in the final three games and doubling the number of triumphs by any previous Atlanta team.

"Last year we made progress from the cellar to the middle of the stack," says Van Brocklin. "But you might say that we have just scratched the surface of what we hope to do."

"Our next goal is to move up toward the top—in other words, to be among the four or five leading teams in the league," he said. "I don't know whether we're good enough, but that's got to be our goal."

Realignment of the National Football League following a merger with the American Football League placed the Falcons in the National Conference's Western Division with Los Angeles, San Francisco and New Orleans.

The Falcons have some strong points—a quartet of running backs who helped the team finish third in the NFL in rushing last year, strength and depth at linebacker plus a handful of second and third-year players, who could be destined for stardom in the NFL.

Youth means inexperience and this is the major problem confronting the Falcons, with noticeable weaknesses at center, defensive tackle and in the deep secondary.

Injuries stopped three top performers in 1969—linebacker Tommy Nobis, an All-Pro in 1967, and quarterbacks Bob Berry and Randy Johnson, plagued with injuries since being Atlanta's No. 2 draft choice in the team's first year.

Nobis, who underwent surgery on his right knee in January, is using the preseason games as a test and his confidence appeared to return in a game against Washington last week.

He should be ready to resume his role as one of pro football's leading middle linebackers.

His injury last year, however, elevated Don Hansen to a starting spot and he handled the chores well. This year Hansen will be ready to spell Nobis or outside linebackers Grady Allen and Greg Brezina.

The team's defensive ends, Claude Humphrey and John Zook, have only three years pro experience between them, but they are rapidly gaining respect around the league.

The secondary, led by corner back Ken Weaver, has little experience but did prevent the bomb most of last year.

Berry and Johnson showed flashes of brilliance at quarterback in 1969 with Berry throwing for 1,037 yards and Johnson for 788. Each suffered injuries after sparkling performances and their ability to avoid injury will play a key role in Atlanta's 1970 program.

The offensive depth is at running back. Jim "Cannonball" Butler led the team with 653 yards and Harmon Wages was second with 275 in 1969. They should be the starters, although Wages must divide his time with the U.S. Army. He is on active duty, stationed in Atlanta.

Quick Art Malone, the No. 2 draft choice from Arizona State, will press returnees Char'le Bryant and Paul Gipson for one of the back-up running back spots.

Political Turmoil

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — Kentucky's political situation was in turmoil at the turn of the century.

William S. Taylor was sworn in as the state's 34th governor on Dec. 12, 1899, but was unseated Jan. 31, 1900, in an election contest which declared William Goebel the winner.

However, Goebel died from an assassin's bullet four days later (Feb. 3, 1900) and J.C.W. Beckham succeeded to the office.

Lunar eclipses occur when the orbits of the Earth and moon line up approximately in the same plane, and the moon swings into the 900,000-mile shadow thrown by the earth. When the moon merely grazes this shadow, a partial eclipse occurs, but when the entire moon passes into the shadow it is totally eclipsed.

'Bo' Says Michigan Team 'Has Incentive To Win'

By LARRY PALADINO
Associated Press Sports Writer

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Coach Bo Schembechler says Michigan's football team has "the incentive to win" the Big Ten championship—even though the Wolverines can't go to the Rose Bowl this season.

But more than incentive they have: 1. one of the finest defenses in the country; 2. one of the better quarterbacks in the country; 3. one of the best running combinations in the country; and 4. one of the best coaches in the country.

"Teams who have incentive and talent are going to win," reasoned the 1969 Coach of the Year at a recent press luncheon. "Those who don't, won't. It's as simple as that."

"As far as I'm concerned the important thing is the Big Ten championship—whether we go to a bowl game or not," he added.

M's incentive will be sole possession of the conference title, something it shared last year with Ohio State via a stunning 24-12 upset of the Buckeyes in the final game of the season.

The victory brought the Wolverines to the Rose Bowl which they lost 10-3 to Southern Cal only hours after Schembechler was hospitalized with a heart attack.

"I'm in the best shape I've been in since I became a head coach, mentally, physically—and socially," smiled the former Miami of Ohio head coach as he flexed his left bicep.

Bo, who was 220-pounds in Pasadena but is 190 now, said he doesn't expect the pressure of the new season to affect his health.

Seventeen lettermen, including six starters, return to the offense and 16 lettermen, including eight starters, to the defense where Michigan's strength predominantly lies this year.

"It is well stacked and we could probably sustain an injury or two and still come out all right," he said.

Offensively, senior quarterback Don Moorhead will be the key.

The 6-foot-3, 198-pounder, who is co-captain, passed for 1,261 yards and five touchdowns last year. Running from the option-T formation he added 625 yards on the ground and scored four times.

Billy Taylor and Glenn Doughty divided running chores from the tailback spot last year as sophomores and led the team with 864 and 732 yards rushing respectively. Schembechler will use Doughty, who has recovered from a knee operation, at tailback with Taylor at fullback in place of graduated blocking ace Garvie Crow.

"Because Crow is gone we'll go with more finesse-type running," Bo said. "We'll run the fullback more, but when we want blocking we'll use Fritz Seyferth."

Your Horoscope

The Stars Say—By ESTRELLITA

For Tomorrow

TAKE QUICK note of others' moods on Friday. Many persons will be inclined toward temperamentalism and emotionalism. It shouldn't take you long to spot such tendencies — and act accordingly. A good day for creative interests, but not for holding conferences or business discussions.

For The Birthday

If tomorrow is your birthday, your horoscope indicates that, where career and financial matters are concerned, your outlook for the next year is excellent. As for occupational interests, specifically, stars promise interesting opportunities for advancement within an excellent cycle beginning on the 10th of next month and lasting until mid-January; also in late March, early May and throughout another splendid 3-month cycle beginning on June 1.

As to monetary affairs, your best periods for adding to bank deposits will occur in November, January, early March and mid-July. Just a few admonitions, however: If presently in any speculative ventures, be out of them by the end of this month; make no loans in late April and don't yield to extravagant whims during the forthcoming November and December.

Personal relationships will be governed by generous stars during most of the 12 months ahead, with romance emphasized next month, in December, late March and August; travel, next month, in December, January, April and August. And, if you're careful to avoid friction in domestic circles—especially during February and July—you should find home and family affairs immensely rewarding.

A child born on this day will be of sound and dependable character; could excel in statesmanship, as an educator or technologist.

TV Viewing

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

AP Television-Radio Writer
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Children of all ages obviously were charmed by an ABC midseason replacement last year called "The Nanny and the Professor," which seems to be a mix of standard situation comedy, Mary Poppins and James M. Barrie whimsy.

A large segment of the early evening audiences loved it and it won renewal for a full season. Among other things, it has introduced another member of the illustrious acting and writing British Mills family to American audiences.

Juliet Mills, daughter of actor John Mills and playwright Mary Hayley Bell and sister of actress Hayley Mills, has had lots of British stage and film experience. After making two pilots for "Nanny" over two years she had forgotten about television and was busy on the London stage when the summons came. The series had been sold, and four days later, Juliet was in Hollywood working on it.

She plays a fey creature named Phoebe Figally who mysteriously turned up at the home of a widowed professor and his unruly children just when he needed help most desperately. She has strange powers of prediction and understanding of children and animals.

"I suppose she has psychic powers," said Miss Mills as she reted between shot and the hazy dog who plays Waldo slept at her feet. "But there is nothing about her ESP that can't be explained logically or by coincidence. Besides, I think it's nice for people to believe in a bit of magic—I do myself."

The Mills family is close knit. This season Juliet, installed with her 6-year-old son in a rented Hollywood home, hopes to have them with her for their Christmas reunion. Meanwhile, her father will appear in an episode of the series and her mother will write at least one show, maybe more.

"I find the character delightful and I like working the series," she said. "I think I could be very happy with it for six months each year for three or four years."

The show business weekly Variety reports that Tony Franciosa and NBC's "The Name of the Game" have split. The actor, one of the three male stars who rotate as leads in the series, has on several occasions been unhappy about his part. Recently Universal Studio replaced him in an episode when he balked at the story.

Because of the break-away format of the series, replacement probably will be simply a matter of hiring another actor to play a playboy reporter for a magazine.

Lack Of Beacon Limits Airport

EAST LIVERPOOL, Ohio (AP) — The new $450,000 Columbiana County Airport, which was officially opened this week, has been limited to day use only until a beacon is installed.

Construction on the airport began in 1968, but delays, including a business shutdown by the original contractor, held up the completion. The airport has a landing strip 3,500 feet long and 75 feet wide.

THE SKY IS FALLING—Mrs. George Gruhkey and her son Perry inspect an 80-pound piece of metal that fell in a flash of fire on their farm near Adrian, Tex. Other chunks of debris also fell over parts of Oklahoma and Kansas. The Air Force believes the pieces came from a dying Soviet satellite.

Chrysler Gets UAW Demands, Strike Threat

DETROIT (AP) — The president of the United Auto Workers takes his union's new contract demands today to the Chrysler Corp.—designated along with General Motors as a strike target—after announcing Ford Motor Co. is free of a walkout threat this year.

President Leonard Woodcock said Wednesday the union will strike either GM or Chrysler—possibly both—unless a contract settlement is reached before current three-year pacts expire at midnight Sept. 14.

A strike at GM would give Ford a great marketing edge with its subcompact Pinto which goes on sale Sept. 11. The Chevrolet Vega goes on sale the day before, but a strike would quickly dry up the supply of some 25,000 GM subcompacts, perhaps within a day or two.

Woodcock said at a news conference one reason Ford—object of the last UAW strike in 1967—was excluded as a target was so that at least one American automaker would be building subcompacts in numbers to meet the challenge of imported cars. Chrysler does not presently produce a subcompact.

Woodcock said he would tell top Chrysler negotiators today that their contract offer—which included a wage hike the company claimed totaled 13.5 percent over three years—was a virtual insult. Similar offers were made by GM and Ford.

"We don't give a damn if we run through the strike fund," Woodcock told cheering representatives of Chrysler's rank and file. "We can strike without money as we did in the past."

2 Airlines End Morning Flight Movies

NEW YORK (AP) — Two major airlines have announced they are dropping the showing of movies on long distance, domestic morning flights. Reasons: to save money; passengers aren't interested in seeing films that early in the day.

A third airline said it was reviewing its inflight movie policy but had reached no decisions.

American Airlines stopped showing movies Tuesday on pre-north departures. Trans World Airlines announced it would end its screenings next month on similar flights. United Airlines said "our policy of showing movies is under review."

"Surveys indicated that passengers were not interested in movies that early, and it saves money," said a spokesman for American Airlines, which lost $1.6 million during the first six months of this year.

"TWA will temporarily discontinue showing movies on morning flights on U.S. domestic routes. This suspension is effective from Oct. 1 through next March 31. This is an economy move," a spokesman said.

TWA, he added, lost $37.7 million during the first six months of this year.

Traffic Light Pole Damaged By Truck

A traffic light support pole at the corner of North and Court streets was heavily damaged Wednesday when it was struck by a turning semi truck, and a car received minor damage when it was forced off Ohio 41-N by another truck Thursday morning.

The two mishaps involved damage estimated at $675 to vehicles and city property. No one was injured, but a truck driver was cited for reckless operation.

City officers said Lowell L. Rudd, 32, of 1322 Grace St., turning from North Street onto Court Street at 5:35 p.m. Wednesday, rounded the corner too sharply and the trailer of his semi rig struck the traffic light support pole.

Damage was estimated at $300 to the pole and another $300 to the trailer. Rudd was cited for the traffic law infraction.

Billy Joe Pepper, 26, of 714 Eastern Ave., told sheriff's deputies that his northbound car was forced off Ohio 41, a mile north of the city, at 7 a.m. Thursday by a semi truck driving left of center. He said his car struck a fence and received damage estimated at $75. Deputies said the trucker apparently failed to stop.

Two More County Wards Picked Up In Investigation

Two more wards of the Fayette County Children's Home were taken into custody Wednesday as a court investigation into "behavior infractions at the institution continued into its third day.

A total of eight children have been charged with delinquency and a 19-year-old girl with contributing to the delinquency of others.

The investigation was touched off when four 14-year-old boys from the Home were apprehended in Chillicothe early Monday while driving a pickup truck stolen from the county. The same morning, two other juveniles were sent to the detention section of the county jail from the home and two others were incarcerated Tuesday.

Wednesday's action by the Juvenile Court placed a 16-year-old girl and 19-year-old Barbara Newland in the juvenile detention section. Miss Newland is charged with contributing to the delinquency of a minor.

Barbara Wilson, 31, of 104 W. Paint St., who is under indictment by the Fayette County grand jury for assault with a dangerous weapon, sought a peace bond Wednesday in Municipal Court against the woman she allegedly attacked last June.

Second Continuance Granted In Concealed Weapons Case

A second continuance was granted 22-year-old Terry Ray Snyder, Rt. 1, Jeffersonville, in Municipal Court Wednesday. He was charged by the State Highway Patrol with carrying a concealed weapon in his car.

A peace bond sought by an E. Paint Street woman indicted by the Fayette County grand jury for assaulting a neighbor with a section of pipe in June was denied by Judge Reed M. Winegardner for lack of evidence.

And, an estranged Washington C. H. couple was fined a total of $75 and costs on three charges stemming from a domestic quarrel Aug. 11.

Snyder was charged by State Highway Patrolman William Shaffer with secreting a loaded .25 caliber automatic pistol under the dashboard of his car Aug. 17. Shaffer had stopped Snyder's car on an exhaust system violation.

The first continuance granted Snyder was Aug. 28 when he asked for more time to obtain the services of an attorney. The same day, Snyder forfeited bond on the exhaust system violation.

The second continuance was granted Wednesday with the hearing scheduled for 1:30 p.m. Sept. 8. Snyder again sought sufficient time to obtain counsel.

Integration Continues In South

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Only 25 whites of 359 assigned were among the hundreds of blacks when the formerly all-black George Washington Carver High School opened for the fall term in Montgomery, Ala.

In Richmond, Va., a 14-year-old white girl attending a predominantly black school said: "The only reason I came here was to keep my mother from being locked up."

In Mississippi and Louisiana, school officials said it would be weeks before they could produce figures on integration.

And in Georgia, school officials complained of administrative headaches and high absenteeism caused by massive new classroom integration.

But there was uneventful integration of large numbers of other Deep South districts as public schools opened under orders to abolish separate schools for whites and blacks.

Despite boycotts and a parallel surge of private school openings, President Nixon said he was pleased.

"As schools have opened in many parts of the South in recent days," the President said Wednesday, "the nation has seen hundreds of communities achieve the transition from a dual to a unitary school system smoothly, peacefully and successfully."

He said the past few days, which he earlier said would bring the most meaningful integration of the past 10 years, were a "very difficult and very delicate time."

Missing Auto Found On Bank Of Paint Creek

A compact car stolen Tuesday night from a CCC Highway-W car sales lot was recovered by city police Wednesday morning abandoned in a field near the city sewage treatment plant on S. Elm Street.

Ralph Medary, co-operator of the Medary and Miller Motor Sales Co., reported the theft of a 1969 Volkswagen from his lot, taken sometime after 9 p.m. Tuesday. He reported the car missing at 9:47 a.m. Wednesday.

Police Sgt. Virgil Harris recovered the stolen car at 11:21 a.m. across Paint Creek from the sewage plant. Officers said the car had been run over a rock embankment next to the creek. There was evidence that the vehicle had been driven in circles in a nearby field.

The car, when taken, had no license plates, but officers found wire on the rear bracket where plates may have been used by the thief.
